

KAYAKING IN CANAL

- Kayaking in the canal is not recommended if you and your children are not expert swimmers.
- Winds can come up quickly in the canal resulting in rough water conditions.
- It is recommended that everyone wear a life jacket while kayaking. If the available life jackets do not fit properly do not proceed out on to the water.
- It is recommended that everyone wear water shoes when going kayaking, if required you may need to step on the canal floor or ladder steps and or dock platforms which have barnacles and could injure your feet.

Kayak Storage:

- Kayaks are stored on the south side of the house.
- Please replace all kayaks and paddles after use. Winds during the night can easily blow jackets and paddles into the canal. Life Jackets are stored in garage.
- Place the double kayak on the lower rack with the kids kayaks on the top rack.

Kayak Launching:

- Water levels in the canal vary greatly from season to season and even daily especially after storms.
- Depending on water level you can use the upper or lower dock platforms to launch.
- Should you need to, the ladder is available to mount or dismount or clime back onto the dock if required.
- Please raise the ladder after use so that barnacles do not form on the steps.
